In 1986 there was a reduction in the total volume of activities as compared with 1985. This was due to a marked decrease in material assistance operations in Africa, mainly as a result of the improvement in climatic conditions. Taken in aggregate, the regular budget and special budgets together amounted to 265.8 million Swiss francs, reaching an overall amount of 324.4 million Swiss francs including the value of aid in kind and services.

Expenditure and charges, including gifts in kind and services (in millions of Swiss francs)

	1986	1985
Regular budget	91	83.5
Special budgets	233.4	472.1
Total	324.4	555.6

Expenditure by region

Despite the reduction in the volume of major material assistance operations, Africa remained the largest area of ICRC involvement, accounting for 50% of the total expenditure.

EXPENDITURE BY REGION

Expenditure according to type of activity (Table III)

Material assistance, although on a smaller scale than in 1985, remained the largest item.

EXPENDITURE ACCORDING TO TYPE OF ACTIVITY

Income and expenditure account and balance sheet (Tables I and II)

Regular budget expenditure was 7.5% lower than the budgetary estimates. This is mainly due to the fact that, while inflation in Switzerland was close to zero, the ICRC also made a sustained and successful effort to curb and rationalize its expenditure. This favourable development made it possible to make appropriations to various provisions. For example, it proved possible to increase the quota of capital reserve funds allocated to the building under construction. It was also possible to increase the necessary provisions for operational risks, which are intended for example to offset a temporary lack of liquidity or sustain an operation whose financing is not fully covered.

The target income for the regular budget was almost achieved, mainly through the contribution of the Swiss Confederation, which was increased from 20 to 40 million Swiss francs. Donations and bequests were also higher than had been estimated.

Contributions from other governments were below estimate, partly because of the decline of the dollar and the appreciation of the Swiss franc in relation to other currencies, which will be a future source of concern.

The appropriation of 6.5% of the special budgets to the regular budget was 3 million Swiss francs below estimate, since the reduction in assistance activities financed from those budgets was greater than expected.

The balance sheet shows a rise of about 15% as compared with 1985. This is partly due to the increase in the item "funds for current operations" comprising contributions to the 1986 special budgets carried forward to 1987 and also to the rise in the provisions for operational risks and for investments.

Financing

(Tables IV, V, VI)

During 1986, representations continued with a view to improving the financing of the regular budget. First of all, the ICRC followed up on the approaches made to the Council of Europe, which had adopted a resolution on the ICRC in 1985, and also to the Organization of African Unity (OAU) and the Organization of American States (OAS). These two regional organizations had also adopted a resolution concerning the ICRC which, in addition to general support, recommended that their member States should provide the institution with regular financial backing. The ICRC firmly hopes that, following those representations, the States party to the Conventions will substantially increase their contributions (as some of them have already done) in order to enable the International Committee to achieve the objectives it has set, in regard to the regular budget, in its five-year programme.

With regard to the special budgets, the ad hoc missions and regular information sent to the donors ensured adequate financing of ICRC activities, notwithstanding some difficulties in the early part of the year.

Finally, the Twenty-fifth International Conference of the Red Cross decided to increase the number of members of the Commission for the Financing of the ICRC from 7 to 12. It requested the Commission to determine, jointly with the ICRC, the percentage of actual expenditure during the preceding financial year on which to calculate the contributions from National Societies. In this connection, it should be mentioned that National Society contributions amounted to 3.3 million Swiss francs in 1986.

The Republic and Canton of Geneva increased its 1986 contribution from 500,000 to 1 million Swiss francs.

Audit

The ICRC's accounts for the financial year 1986 were audited by the Société Fiduciaire Générale S.A., as certified by the letter on page 133 of this Report.

As in previous years, each account for the specially financed operations was audited by the international firm of auditors Peat, Marwick & Mitchell.

The audit reports will be sent to donors in the course of 1987.
