

Zeitschrift: Swiss review : the magazine for the Swiss abroad
Herausgeber: Organisation of the Swiss Abroad
Band: 42 (2015)
Heft: 3

Rubrik: Images : an Iraqi family scattered all over the world

Nutzungsbedingungen

Die ETH-Bibliothek ist die Anbieterin der digitalisierten Zeitschriften. Sie besitzt keine Urheberrechte an den Zeitschriften und ist nicht verantwortlich für deren Inhalte. Die Rechte liegen in der Regel bei den Herausgebern beziehungsweise den externen Rechteinhabern. Siehe Rechtliche Hinweise.

Conditions d'utilisation

L'ETH Library est le fournisseur des revues numérisées. Elle ne détient aucun droit d'auteur sur les revues et n'est pas responsable de leur contenu. En règle générale, les droits sont détenus par les éditeurs ou les détenteurs de droits externes. Voir Informations légales.

Terms of use

The ETH Library is the provider of the digitised journals. It does not own any copyrights to the journals and is not responsible for their content. The rights usually lie with the publishers or the external rights holders. See Legal notice.

Download PDF: 29.04.2025

ETH-Bibliothek Zürich, E-Periodica, <https://www.e-periodica.ch>

An Iraqi family scattered all over the world

Samir came to Switzerland from Iraq at the age of six. That was in 1961. He is today one of Switzerland's best-known film directors. Around ten years ago he began conducting research into the life stories of his Iraqi relatives, exploring the destinies of siblings, uncles, aunts and cousins who fled their native country and live dispersed all over the world. "Iraqi Odyssey" is the title of the resultant documentary.

Samir contrasts the images we have of Iraq today – of destroyed, dusty areas of land, bearded fighters, bomb terror and women in black chadors – with those of his recollections. These are images of Iraq from the 1950s to the 1970s, images of a vibrant city with women dressed in western clothing, who studied at university and enjoyed the company of gallant men. Samir himself takes us through his film, which is both a family epic and a history lesson, from the off. The eastern flair for narration and the sense of humour displayed by Samir and his uncle Jamal from London produce an uplifting film despite the often hard lives of the exiles.

BARBARA ENGEL

The director Samir with his sister Hayath in 1958 in Iraq in front of their father's car

Samir with relatives in 1967 at the ruins of Baalbek in Lebanon

The film will be in cinemas in Germany and Italy from July 2015 and in the former Yugoslavia in early autumn 2015. Screenings in other countries have not yet been scheduled. It will be available on DVD and VOD from February 2016.

A project is being carried out on the www.iraqiodyssey.ch website enabling other Iraqis to recount their stories.

Sabah Jamal Aldin, Samir's uncle, who today lives in London

Samir's father Riad (at the back, 2nd from the left) with friends and cousins around 1935

A family picnic in 1959 near Baghdad with Samir as a young boy

Rashid Street in Baghdad in 1956

Souhir, Samir's half-sister. In the background a meeting of the Muqtada militia in 2007

Samir with his cousin Jamal al Tahir, who lives in Moscow