FEDERAL.

SWISS BUDGET.

Federal Councillor Musy, head of the Federal Finance Dept., speaking at the session of the National Council, stated, that never before, in the history of our country, Parliament has been faced with such a serious position of the Federal finances. He said, that the war, and the economic troubles, immediately after the war had seriously affected the Federal finances. The year 1933 has so far proved disastrous, and in comparison with more prosperous years, a deficit of over 100 million francs is to be expected. "The position of the Swiss Federal Railways," he said, "is viewed by the government with the gravest concern, as the entire debt reaches to-day the amount of over 3 milliard francs. In 1931 the Federal Railways registered a loss of 10 million francs, in 1932 the deficit reached 50 million francs and the loss during the current year is estimated to pass the 60 million mark.

"The Federal Council," he continued, "is convinced and wishes to make it clear, that there could be only one monetary policy in Switzerland, namely the policy to maintain the Swiss franc unswervingly to gold parity." He went on to justify the Swiss Budgetary policy, which was to meet the deficit of 100 million francs by rigid economy and fresh taxation.

THE ZONE DISPUTE.

The French Government has agreed to Montreux being the Meeting place of the International commission to discuss outstanding items in the Zone dispute.

SWITZERLAND AND THE CUSTOMS TRUCE.

Switzerland, following the example of Sweden, Holland and the Irish Free State, will abandon the Customs truce.

SWISS POST OFFICE ENTERPRISE.

The Swiss Post Office authorities are nothing if not enterprising. They have introduced at least a dozen novel schemes in their service for the public during the past year, and their stock of bright ideas has not yet run down.

Beginning this week they started an experimental distribution of parcels from shops to their customers within a radius of about six miles.

For parcels of this nature the ordinary parcel post rate of payment has been reduced by 50 per cent.

The postmen will also collect any charges on parcels, and if several parcels are being sent to any one address on approbation, the postman motor driver will call back at the house for the unwanted goods and bring them back to the shop.

The new service, however, is only granted to shops who promise a minimum of five parcels daily, and who undertake to employ the post for the full delivery of all their parcels.

FLIGHT FROM DOLLAR.

Some idea of the meaning of the words "flight from the dollar" may be gauged from what is taking place in Switzerland with regard to the American currency.

According to reliable statistics, the eight principal Swiss banks have been opening new accounts in Swiss francs for American clients at the rate of over 1,000 daily for some weeks past. There are also a host of smaller private Swiss banks in which the same process is taking place.

These accounts bear no interest, and a charge is made for conversion of bills, bookkeeping, etc., but, none the less American depositors prefer to rely on the stability of the Swiss franc rather than to risk the perils of depreciation at home.

FOOTBALL.

Continuing our story, so unceremoniously interrupted last week, of that International match in Belgrade, we may congratulate ourselves on the result 2:2 achieved under difficult and unusual conditions. To draw in Jugoslavia on a wind swept ground, totally devoid of a single blade of grass is quite as meritorious as to win on your own well tended ground at home. Yet the play of our Reds seems to have been far from thrilling. They only woke up in the second half after Jugoslavia had scored twice in quick succession. 14 minutes from time Frigerio reduced the arrears chasing a neat through-pass and netting past the advancing goalkeeper. Six minutes later Jäggi made the score 2:2, both goals being greeted by the public of about 12000 with stony silence!

There were two changes in our team from that beaten in Budapest. Jäggi (Urania) played at inside right for Trelo; Imhof centre half was dropped, Gilardoni moving from left half to centre and Bielser (Basel) playing left half. This new arrangement was not exactly a devastating success. The improvement shown was rather due to a welcome return to top form of Xam and v. Känel and the continued steadiness of the defence.

This partial success should ensure Switzerland's inclusion in the last 16 for the so-called World Championship in 1934 in Italy. We still have to meet and beat Roumania on October 29th in Bern and as the two best of the three (Switzerland, Jugoslavia and Roumania) qualify, our optimism should for once not be misplaced.

To summarise the surprises, so inseparable from all knock-out cup competitions, the palm must be handed to the second Leaguers Fleurier who beat Concordia Basel 3:2! Bellinzona eliminated F. C. Zürich by beating them in Zurich 1:0 after extra time. And another shock: Young Boys lose to Nordstern in Bern 1:2. Only two weeks ago in the Championship the result had been 2:0 in favour of Y.B. The fall of the mighty! The success of the second Leaguers Olten, Kickers Luzern and Viktoria Bern over their First League opponents also merit special mention.

And F.C. Brühl deserves a compliment for having defeated the redoubtable Krenzingen away, that team who upset all calculations last season.
