Army

M. Kobelt, chief of the Federal Military Department, speaking at the yearly rally of Swiss non-commissioned officers, emphasized the urgent necessity of a rapid rearming of the country's armed forces. Much had already been done to modernize the national defence, but there were still gaps, and they must be filled as rapidly as possible. The Government would not hesitate, in spite of all the inconveniences, to spend more on armaments. The maintenance of Switzerland's independence took precedence over financial considerations.

According to official figures just published, sterling balances held by Switzerland at the end of February, 1950, amounted to £12 million.

Since the credit ceiling agreed to by Switzerland under the present Anglo-Swiss payments agreement amounts to £15 million, Britain still has a margin of £3 million before gold transfers become imminent.

The U.K. has undertaken to make such transfers to the extent of £10 million during the twelve months to March, 1951, should there be a deficit in the balance of payments of the sterling area with Switzerland.

Swiss housewives were recently urged by the Government to lay in stocks of essential provisions. The appeal stressed the military importance of such stocks in the event of "unforeseeable circumstances" preventing supplies from reaching the country.

The Minister declared that the military defence plans of the country would be inadequate if measures were not taken to guard against economic strangulation in time of war. Housewives and industrial plants could, he said, help by finding storage space for laying in supplies.

The Minister added that this was a normal precaution which did not mean that war was more imminent than before.

A group of Swiss firms interested in the exploitation of the River Inn in the Engadine, has now obtained the approval of six out of the ten Swiss communes concerned, and the consent of the remainder is expected to be given. This project, which will require the co-operation of the Austrian and Italian authorities, is estimated to yield about 1,000 million kWh. per annum, about half of which would be available during the winter months.

One hundred Swiss Guards, in their 16th century red, blue and yellow sashed uniforms, recently pronounced their solemn oath of loyalty to the Pope. The ceremony marked the anniversary of the massacre of the Swiss Guard outside St. Peter's Basilica four centuries ago.

Col. Heinrich Pfyffer D'Altishofen, Commander of the Guard, laid a wreath of laurel on the monument commemorating the 147 Swiss soldiers who died in defence of Pope Clement VII during the sack of Rome on May 6th, 1527.

Thirty-eight recruits took the oath for the first time, bringing the force up to its full strength of 100 in view of the increased duties of the Holy Year.

PETITES CHOSES QUI FONT PLAISIR.

"Semaine Suisse" (Service de Presse).

Selon le "Manchester Guardian", les U.S.A. et la Suisse sont à la tête de la production des machines textiles. Les Suisses auraient une préférence marquée pour le travail bien fait, pour la qualité et la précision.

Une imprimerie parisienne a reçu une puissante rotative livrée par la fabrique bernoise Winkler, Fallert & Cie S.A. Cette machine se compose de 5 cylindres d'impression permettant de sortir une revue de 80 pages, en une ou plusieurs couleurs, à une vitesse double de celle qui est possible actuellement.

Le professeur Dr. E. Matthias, de Zürich, a inventé et fait breveter la pédale à pendule Proma pour cycles. Ce système permet l'utilisation rationnelle des forces et a un rendement qu'il sera difficile de dépasser. Il est étonnamment agréable de rouler avec cet appareil et on accomplit les mêmes performances qu'auparavant avec un déploiement de forces bien inférieur. La nouvelle pédale est fabriquée en Suisse et peut être montée sur n'importe quel pédalier.

THE SWISSAIR SUMMER TIME-TABLE.

The Swissair flight-programme for the summer of 1950, as compared to the winter time-table, has only been slightly altered.

Particular attention may be called to the inauguration of a direct line between Zurich and Rome. In a little more than two hours fast Convair-Liners connect the economic centre of Switzerland with the Eternal City. The flight over the highest peaks of the Alps is an unforgettable experience. There are direct connections in Zurich for travellers from London, Amsterdam, Paris, Brussels, Stuttgart, Frankfurt, Hamburg and Prague.

The daily service Zurich — Stuttgart — Frankfurt has been extended to Hamburg four times a week.

There are also very good connections from Zurich to the Near and Middle East and the United States. The services to Istanbul, Athens, Tel Aviv, Cairo and Basra are being maintained, also the twice weekly (from 16th May three times weekly) transatlantic service between Switzerland and New York. Passengers from Turkey, Greece, the Near and Middle East can fly direct to the United States by Swissair.

The Swiss Air Transport Company links also Stockholm and Copenhagen with Zurich and Geneva where travellers will find direct connections for Rome, Nice and Spain.

There are good daily Swissair services between Paris, Geneva or Zurich.

Brussels is also linked with Zurich and Geneva.

In addition to its day services on its various lines to England, Swissair will introduce a night service at very reduced fares on the London-Zurich route. B.E.A. will start a corresponding service between London and Geneva. It will, therefore, be easy, this summer, to fly to Switzerland. It may be remembered that this summer, Swissair will link London, not only with Geneva, Zurich or Basle, but also with Berne and that there is a four times weekly service between Manchester and Zurich.

PIANO-RECITAL.

We have much pleasure to direct the attention of our readers to a Piano-Recital by our compatriote, Ruth Huggenberg, which will take place on Friday, June 16th, 1950, at Wigmore Hall, Wigmore Street, W.1.

Ruth Huggenberg enjoys a great reputation in the musical world of this country, and her recitals in the past have been greatly enjoyed.

She has, on numerous occasions, put her services at the disposal of the Swiss Colony at several functions, and by attending her recital our countrymen have a splendid opportunity to show her their appreciation for her always ready help.

We sincerely hope that Ruth Huggenberg will have a "full house" on June the 16th.
