SWISS CHURCH BAZAAR.

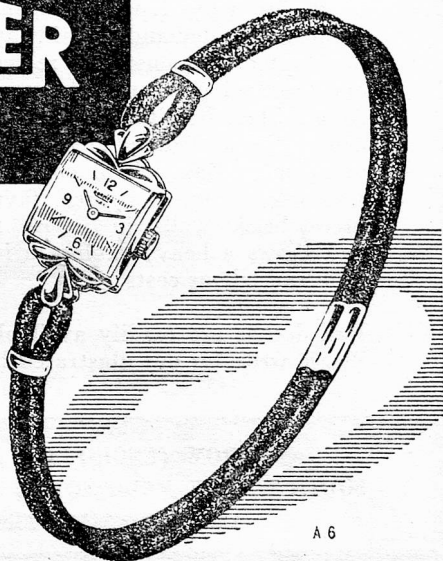

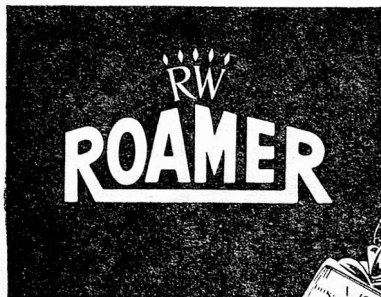

A bazaar in aid of the two Swiss churches in London (Eglise Suisse and Schweizerkirche) was held on Saturday, November 3rd, at the Conway Hall, Red Lion Square, W.C.1.

The bazaar was officially opened by Madame Daeniker, the wife of the Swiss Minister, who very charmingly referred to the object of this worthy cause, thanking the organisers and all those many helpers who had worked so hard to make the bazaar a reality. She invited the numerous visitors who thronged the Hall to be generous in their purchases, saying: "You will find in these stalls many useful and alluring things to make your life richer and even more cosy, or to provide a generous Christmas joy for your husbands or better still from the husbands to their charming wives, to parents for their children or for your friends."

Madame Daeniker, supported by some of the ladies from the Legation, was herself in charge of a stall which, I am glad to say, did some roaring business, and consequently was already early in the afternoon completely "sold out".

Many of the other stalls, especially those in the "food line" were also soon depleted. The stalls catering for baby wear and wearing apparel for those of "riper years", and also those displaying toys, books, calendars, jewellery, etc. etc. all seemed to have found willing purchasers.

When closing this year's bazaar, Mr. Chas. Gysin, President of the "Consistoire", thanked Madame Daeniker, and all the hard-working ladies and gentlemen for their collaboration and the donors for their generous gifts.

It is with great satisfaction that I can report that the result has exceeded the most sanguine expectations, about £800 having been taken. (The result of the last bazaar in October, 1952, was £467.)
