Pictures like this that can't be posed—the living, breathing, moving happenings that make the best pictures of all can only be taken with a cine camera. And the beauty of it is that cine films are far from expensive. With this Bolex B8 you can take 24 or more good length action sequences for just over £1, including processing charge. At under 11d. a shot this compares very favourably with ordinary still photography. See the Bolex B8 at any good photo shop. Note its precision construction—so vital in a cine camera. That's because it is made in one of the great watch-making centres of Switzerland.

It is the 3rd Swiss attempt, former attempts by French, German and Argentinian expeditions have proved unsuccessful.

A major tourist attraction in the picturesque lake-side town of Neuchâtel is the Fine-Arts Museum with its famous automatons or mechanical dolls. Operated by intricate watch-movements, a "writer", a "musician" and a "designer" will perform their true-life little jobs with amazing precision, thus giving credit to the several generations of proficient watch-makers who have lived and toiled in the Jura Mountains of Switzerland since these tiny man-made creatures were born. The three little "artists" are named after their constructor, the "Jaquet-Droz automatons", and their world-wide popularity is demonstrated in the many greeting cards which the dolls receive each year at Christmas from fans all over the globe, some of them being simply addressed to "Monsieur Jaquet-Droz, Automaton, Neuchâtel, Switzerland". In addition to the scheduled appearances of the automatons, more than two-hundred special performances had to be given last year for admirers from the USA, France, Germany, Italy and other countries.
