deal of sterling work and devoted much of his free time to the affairs and problems of the Swiss community. Last year, he and his wife attended the Assembly of the Swiss Abroad in St. Gall, and he was full of fun and energy, and it was hard to imagine that he was so seriously ill.

His lovely wife Laura has been a marvellous companion to him in his career as well as in his activities amongst his compatriots. She, too, was a Swiss living abroad when he met her. She came from the Grisons and lived in Milan. No wonder, they both understood us Swiss living outside our homeland so well! To Laura and their son Willy, we express our heartfelt sympathy in their grievous loss. It will be a consolation to them that they made Ermanno so happy. Willy has his father's work to carry on, and Laura will know that her husband's rich life was a life fulfilled. Their many friends will rally round her in her great loss. Dead is only who is forgotten, and that Ermanno Berner will not be.
